

Update 2: Damasgate Wholesale recalls Sofra Garlic Powder because of undeclared peanut

Damasgate Wholesale is recalling Sofra Garlic Powder because it contains peanuts which are not mentioned on the label. This means the product is a possible health risk for anyone with an allergy to peanuts. This recall has been updated as some products have been over stickered with Precautionary Allergen Labelling (PAL). Where a PAL is present on products clearly indicating that peanut may be present, these are unaffected by this product recall.

About allergy alerts

Sometimes there will be a problem with a food product that means it should not be sold. Then it might be 'withdrawn' (taken off the shelves) or 'recalled' (when customers are asked to return the product). Sometimes foods have to be withdrawn or recalled if there is a risk to consumers because the allergy labelling is missing or incorrect or if there is any other food allergy risk. When there is a food allergy risk, the FSA will issue an Allergy Alert.
