These activities relate generally to business non-compliance or suspected non-compliance and as such do not represent any change in the burden placed on food businesses. • the FSA leads on the 24/7 government response to food and feed incidents • the FSA National Food Crime Unit (NFCU) gathers, analyses and disseminates intelligence in relation to food fraud and other offences of dishonesty within the food supply chain • the FSA carries out criminal investigations into legislative non-compliance at FSA approved establishments. Where necessary, it prosecutes or refers relevant cases to the Crown Prosecution Service (CPS)
The FSA routinely: uses an extensive range of social media techniques to inform, educate and influence stakeholders on a variety of issues to promote consumer protection and other interests; produces a varied range of factsheets and information leaflets that are published on its website (www.food.gov.uk); communicates with food business on many different subjects and consults them on regulatory changes that may impact them.
